

Ashley Hoy Program Director at Launch Pad Youth Centre Hanover

Bio

Hi my name is Ashley Hoy. I have been the Program Director at Launch Pad since 2019. I moved to North Bay for post secondary but decided to come home after graduating. My husband and I bought our first home in 2013. In my hometown of Durham.

My husband and I are now expecting baby number 2. I am proud to raise my children in our rural communities to teach, and show them all the wonderful opportunities and experiences life has to offer here.

A quick intro to my Presentation

I am really happy to be here today to share what Launch Pad is all about: if you don't know what we do you will learn lots, and if you do know I am happy to share all of our new updates and new programs we have added this year.

Launch Pad opened its doors in 2015, but before we opened our doors almost 10 years of work went into seeing what the youth wanted and needed in their community

When Launch Pad opened in 2015, there was one goal in mind. Create social and educational opportunities for youth in our region which link them to community and provide them with the tools needed for success.

I will talk about all the programs we offer: after school programs, school field trips, and drop in. As well as many other initiatives we do.

I look forward to seeing you all in January

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year !
Ashley Hoy
